However, it should be noted that Ruptures damage will significantly decrease depending on the value of the items on the table.

COOLDOWN: 50/40/30/20

Denzel once again terrorizes the peaceful land of Runeterra, especially in Champ Select where he proceeds to ban the champion that his teammate intended to pick causing massive confusion and straining the mentals of his team.

This causes his teammates to have weaker mentals and to perform worse which fuels his passive causing him to scale harder and to reach new heights of power.

Communal Guttural Scream [R]

RANGE: Global (affects all champions and minions)

COST: The sanity of every living being nearby

COOLDOWN: 50/40/30/20

Denzel channels all the inner rage within himself to scream “Get out of my Game” that reduces the health and mana of all teammates by 50% leaving them more susceptible to hitting and death. Stuns all units on the map including his teammates (5/8/10/69). Removes all debuffs. Applies ignite to all units on the map including his teammates. Evokes extreme emotions of sorrow and doubt in his opponents causing them to uninstall the game or spiral into depression.

Increase movement speed that scales with his rage. Adds 10 additional stacks to his passive.

Lore

From the far East to the scorching deserts of Texas there is no land or culture that Denzel hasn't been acquainted with. In his long journeys he traveled with his family of four. As a third culture kid his upbringing was a happy one, however, not one without its faults. Owing to complex family structures and the strain from having no balls Denzel was deprived of basic familial love and affection. This drove him to insanity (around the same time he started playing League) and led to the awakening of an unrelenting rage within him. Words of his tilt spread so far across the continents that the rumors spread of the famous tilted towers being named in his honor. Whilst many of the foes that encounter him in battle may at first find his malingering entertaining or funny, his rage is nothing to be taken lightly. It is most certain that it will make you “get out of his game”. Despite all this, Denzel still remains a good natured person who longs to form and maintain meaningful bonds with the people he loves. He is a conflicted character who is in constant battle with the overwhelming rage within himself. Will he be able to conquer the inner tilt? Find out in the next episode of Dragon “no balls” Z Super.

Items to Counter Denzel

Heavenly Pacifier

Some may remember it as the one item with the power to make babies stop crying but we, the Sussy Bakas, only know it as the one item that Ornn crafted for Denzel that has never once left his side. Blessed by the Gods themselves, it is only this with enough energy within and raw Ability Potential to calm Denzel down from his fits of rage.

The Big Bad Bong

This peculiarly shaped glass bottle contains “grass” as Denzel calls it, this substance has the ability to subdue Denzel's extreme rage and removes all stacks of his passive unrelenting rage.

Headband

An item used by Denzel to establish he is not one of the Bhutanese by displaying a normal hairline.
